FITDOG TRAINING ACADEMY

Look at That

Notice triggers. Reward calm choices.

Owners can teach their dog to notice triggers without reacting.

TRAINER NOTE

Stay below threshold. Distance and safety come before performance.

Best reward

Distance first

Your dog learns when they can notice and still think.

Soft leash

Create space early. Tension raises arousal.

Mark calm

Reward looking, sniffing, and disengaging.

1 Training goal

YOUR GOAL THIS WEEK

We are not rewarding the reaction. We are changing the emotional pattern before the reaction happens.

2 Lesson focus checklist

☐ Review lesson video

☐ Gather supplies

☐ Pick practice time

☐ Set 3–5 min timer

Supplies needed

Front-clip harness
High-value treats

PRACTICE · TRACK

3 Step-by-step practice plan

1. Dog sees trigger at a safe distance.
2. Owner marks calmly.
3. Owner feeds.
4. Dog looks again.
5. Owner marks and feeds again.

4 Practice tracker

Date	Trigger	Distance	Calm looks	Notes
Day 1	Person walking	60 ft	3 looks	End early

5 Common mistakes to avoid

AVOID THESE

- Getting too close to triggers too fast.
- Tightening the leash at triggers.
- Practicing only on hard walks.

If this happens, try this

IF THIS HAPPENS, TRY THIS

Work on exercises outside triggers.
Practice before you make too close.
Still stuck? Contact Fitdog if safety is a concern.

6 Ready to progress?

- ☐ I can explain "Look at That" clearly.
- ☐ My dog stayed under threshold most of the week.
- ☐ I ended sessions while my dog could still succeed.
- ☐ My dog notices triggers and eats at working distance.

Practice one skill from "Look at That" three times this week. Note what to simplify.
