Premium practice worksheet

EVERY DAY OBEDIENCE - LESSON 02

Teach your marker to mean “that was it.”

This worksheet helps you build a marker that tells your dog exactly which choice earned the reward.

TRAINER NOTE

A marker is not a command. It is a clean snapshot of the moment your dog got it right.

START HERE

Dog: _____

Date: _____

Owner: _____

Best reward: _____

1 What success looks like

By the end of this lesson, the dog understands that the marker predicts a reward and can follow that information during simple training reps.

2 Practice plan

1

Pair marker and food

Say the marker, then feed. Repeat until the dog expects payment.

2

Use easy behaviors

Mark simple choices like looking at you or stepping toward you.

3

Pay every marker

If you mark it, pay it. This keeps the marker meaningful.

4

Keep it crisp

Do not repeat the marker or use it as an attention-getter.

Marker Training

6 Common mistakes and quick fixes

Common mistakes

- Marking and then searching for treats.
- Using the marker to call the dog over.
- Changing marker words repeatedly.
- Marking without rewarding.

If this happens, try this

- If your dog ignores the marker, do more marker-then-treat pairings.
- If your dog gets frantic, slow the session and feed lower.
- If you mark late, lower the difficulty and practice easier behaviors.

7 Ready to progress?

- ☐ My dog notices the marker.
- ☐ I can pay quickly after marking.
- ☐ I use the marker only for correct moments.
- ☐ The marker makes training clearer.

HOMEWORK

Do 20 marker pairings across two days, then use the marker in two short sessions for eye contact or sit.
