1 What success looks like

By the end of this lesson, the dog turns toward the owner after hearing their name once in an easy setting and begins to respond around mild distractions.

2 Practice plan

1

Say it once

Use the name in a calm, upbeat voice and give the dog a chance to respond.

2

Mark the turn

Mark the instant the dog orients to you.

3

Reward close

Feed near you so checking in becomes worth it.

4

Add mild distractions

Practice in slightly harder spaces only after easy reps are reliable.

6 Common mistakes and quick fixes

Common mistakes

- Repeating the name over and over.
- Using the name before unpleasant things only.
- Practicing outside before indoor reps are solid.
- Rewarding slow responses the same as fast ones.

If this happens, try this

- If the dog does not turn, reduce distractions and use better rewards.
- If the dog responds slowly, practice shorter sessions with higher value food.
- If the name has weak history, rebuild it with easy wins indoors.

7 Ready to progress?

- ☐ My dog responds to their name on the first cue indoors.
- ☐ I reward quick orientation.
- ☐ I have practiced in at least two easy locations.
- ☐ I know which setting is still too hard.
